Congressman Pence was among the first to make his earmark requests public on his This CNN story talks about which lawmakers made their requests public and which website. did not.